Benefits Planning Information

Working in the community can allow you to earn your own money. Working can help you increase your independence and empower you to create more opportunities for the way you live your life. Considering employment can also be a big change - and it may bring lots of questions about what that means for you. You may be afraid that you will lose your benefits if you work. You may be concerned about how to get your benefits back if you stop working or need to work fewer hours because of your disability. You may be afraid that you will lose your health benefits if you go to work. We also know that working opens doors and offers you more choices. Arm yourself with information so that you can make decisions based on facts, not fear.

Resources Available:

- Work Incentives Planning and Assistance— provides information about how working in the community might affect your current benefits. These reports are completed by Certified Work Incentives Coordinators or Community Work Incentives Practitioners and can be accessed through a HCBS Waiver, Opportunities for Ohioans with Disabilities \(OOD\) or Disability Rights Ohio.
- Disability Benefits 101 (DB 101) - DB 101 is an integrated suite of online tools, information, and training where people with disabilities can directly access plain-language information about work and benefits and health coverage programs. Three calculators have been developed: Work and Benefits, School To Work; Medicaid Buy-In. DB 101 is a resource for families, job seekers and professionals that can be used to help analyze the impact of employment on an individual's benefits. While DB 101 does not replace a comprehensive benefits analysis, it can help to provide a general understanding about employment and benefits.
- U.S. Department of Labor—Employee Benefits Security Administration— If you are looking to secure your financial future, you are not alone. As the job market changes, many people — including people with disabilities — will be making employment–related decisions based on their new financial situation. You may be one of them. The financial toolkit is an up-to-date repository of financial literacy tools and resources beneficial to all Americans, including individuals from historically underserved populations, striving to achieve financial stability. We all need clear and accurate information to secure our financial well-being. The toolkit provides a path forward based on where you are in your employment journey.
- Social Security Administration—If you get disability benefits and are working or want to work, Social Security has good news for you. Their work incentives and Ticket to Work programs can help. Special rules make it possible for people receiving Social Security disability benefits or Supplemental Security Income (SSI) to work and still receive monthly payments. And, if you can't continue working because of your medical condition, your benefits can start again — and you may not have to file a new application. The Red Book—A Guide to Work Incentives serves as a general reference source about the employment-related provisions of the Social Security Disability Insurance and the Supplemental Security Income Programs. Plans to Achieve Self-Support \(PASS\) allow you to set aside money and things you own to pay for items or services needed to achieve a specific work goal.

- Medicaid Buy-In for Workers with Disabilities (MBIWD) - this program allows individuals with disabilities who are working to qualify for Medicaid with higher income and resource limits, and buy into Medicaid by paying a premium based on income. Historically, people with disabilities were often discouraged from working because their earnings made them ineligible for Medicaid coverage. MBIWD was created to enable Ohioans with disabilities to work and still keep their health care coverage.
- STABLE Accounts—for too long, people with disabilities could not save for the future out of fear of losing needed government benefits. The disability community fought long and hard to change this, and together they've come up with a solution. A STABLE account is a way to save for qualified expenses, invest for future needs, and keep the benefits you rely on every day. STABLE accounts are tax-advantaged savings accounts for individuals with disabilities and their families. The money in these accounts can be saved and used by the individual for many purposes while maintaining the individual's benefits (such as Medicaid).
