

More than anything, people living with disabilities want to be treated like everybody else. They want to have close friendships and feel connected. They want to show they have value. They want to get out and give back.

AKTION CLUB provides adults living with disabilities an opportunity to develop initiative, leadership skills and to serve their communities.

A community service group sponsored by Kiwanis International, Aktion Club, is open to all adults living with disabilities who want to become community leaders and provide service for others.

THEY GIVE BACK. Aktion Club members give back to the communities that have supported them for so long. They conduct fundraisers such as car washes, paper drives and recycling projects.

THEY LEARN TO LEAD. Members hold leadership roles in their club, driving their club's service projects and activities, building leadership and decision making skills along the way.

THEY FEEL CONFIDENT. By being a part of a club that gives them an opportunity to develop and use their talents. Aktion Club members improve self-esteem and their belief in themselves.

You'll start noticing abilities, long before disabilities, as Aktion Club members become leaders in their community.
